1. Aims

Our school aims to:

- Have robust processes in place to ensure the online safety of pupils, staff, volunteers and governors
- Deliver an effective approach to online safety, which empowers us to protect and educate the whole school community in its use of technology
- Establish clear mechanisms to identify, intervene and escalate an incident, where appropriate

This remote learning policy for staff aims to:

- Ensure consistency in the school's approach to remote learning
- Set out expectations for all members of the school community with regards to remote learning
- Provide appropriate guidelines for data protection

2. Legislation and guidance

This policy is based on the Department for Education's (DfE) statutory safeguarding guidance, Keeping Children Safe in Education, and its advice for schools on:

- Teaching online safety in schools
- Preventing and tackling bullying and cyber-bullying: advice for headteachers and school staff
- Searching, screening and confiscation

Remote Learning Policy

September 2020

It also refers to the Department's guidance on protecting children from radicalisation.

It reflects existing legislation, including but not limited to the Education Act 1996 (as amended), the Education and Inspections Act 2006 and the Equality Act 2010. In addition, it reflects the Education Act 2011, which has given teachers stronger powers to tackle cyber-bullying by, if necessary, searching for and deleting inappropriate images or files on pupils' electronic devices where they believe there is a 'good reason' to do so.

3. Pupils Consent

From the Children and the GDPR document issued to schools on the 22nd March 2018 from The General Data Protection Regulation states (p.1) the following bullet point.

If you are relying on consent as your lawful basis for processing, when offering an online service directly to a child, in the UK only children aged 13 or over are able to provide their own consent.

Therefore, live lessons are to be offered to years 9-11 pupils only at this time. These year groups are all above the age of 13 years and therefore will be deemed able to give their own consent. When the lesson begins and the record button is pressed GMeets automatically sends a consent requirement to all pupils who have decided to take part in the lesson. By clicking the consent button in GMeets a pupil is giving their consent.

If the school is closed and the decision is made to open up live lessons to all year groups, consent will be sought from parents/carers of those pupils under the age of 13 years. Guidance related to live lessons will be reviewed and amendments made where/if necessary to ensure arrangements for consent are fully incorporated and followed.

4.4. Live lessons: Teachers and Support Staff

Remote Learning Policy

September 2020

Teachers must be available for the lesson they have been timetabled. During full school closure all live lessons delivered to our pupils will be delivered in line with the school timetable so pupils, parents/carers are in no doubt when live lessons are taking place. If any member of staff responsible for delivering a live learning cannot make a lesson for whatever reason they must inform their head of faculty who is then responsible for arranging internal cover of the lesson. In addition, if the reason is due to showing symptoms of Coronavirus, they must inform the Curriculum Manager/Admin.

Teachers and support staff, responsible for a particular group of pupils in all year groups, are responsible for setting work weekly via Google classrooms. Any issues regarding the setting of work must be communicated to the Curriculum Manager responsible for setting work.

Teachers and support staff who directly support the learning of pupils from the school timetable prior to lockdown are responsible for:

- Setting weekly work, via Google Classroom (GC), for pupils in all year groups. This will be monitored, by the Faculty responsible holders, through the weekly GC reports provided by the Data Officer/Registrar.
- Work for the following week to be uploaded onto GC by 9.00am on the Monday of that forthcoming week, by the teacher responsible for the teaching group unless directed differently by the Faculty responsibility holders.
- Use only their school computer; a personal device, i.e. not issued by the school, should never be used when delivering a live lesson to pupils. If a member of staff encounters a problem with their school device, they should seek support from IT support as soon as they are aware of the problem.
- The teacher responsible for teaching the teaching group is responsible for setting up and delivering the live lessons via Google Meet (GMeet).
- The teacher responsible for delivering the lesson is responsible for setting the admin rights of the lesson. The teacher must ensure only themselves and the staff member attached to support the lesson are the only people able to control the administration of the lesson; this is done when a lesson is set up in GMeet.
- The teacher responsible for delivering the live lesson is responsible for the attendance information of those participating in the live lesson. They must complete their register via school MIS, Arbor.
- It is the responsibility of the teacher delivering the lesson to only accept pupils into the lesson with a school email address. Anyone who attempts to enter without a school email address will immediately be removed from the live lesson.
- Within 24 hours of a live lesson taking place the teacher responsible for the lesson is responsible for saving and uploading of the lesson onto GC. Only those staff invited to the lesson and the students of the class will have access to the lesson.

- The teacher responsible for supporting the live lesson is responsible for the chat room during the lesson, answering any queries a pupil may have or ask. They are also responsible for muting any pupils who may try and interfere with the lesson. They have the right to remove any pupil during a live lesson if they consider this to be necessary. Should this be the case they will log any such incidents that occur during the lesson via Arbor, as they would if they were in school, and report where necessary to the Behaviour Manager. The Behaviour Manager is responsible for collation information about pupil conduct during live lessons.

Providing feedback on pupil work:

- Work from pupils will be returned via GC or emailed directly to the teacher via their school email address.
- Where possible pupils will be emailed feedback of the work they have submitted. Staff are expected to look at their emails to ensure they can support home learning as promptly as possible
- Examples of excellent work are to be shared with the Curriculum Manager responsible for homework/remote learning and these will be uploaded onto social media platforms to praise pupils as often as possible.
- At the end of each half term pupil the Curriculum Manager responsible for remote learning will collate the names of those pupils who have maintained excellent work over that half term period and praise letter and the letter will be sent via the post.

Keeping in touch with pupils and parents:

- Form tutors will be in touch with pupils once a fortnight to check their well-being and share the show my homework user information report which are shared with staff every Monday morning.
- Pastoral staff are in weekly contact with the vulnerable pupils in their year groups
- Any questions/issues sent to staff from pupils, either via email or GC, will be responded to within a 24-hour period where possible.
- Any issues such as poor behaviour during a live lesson, must be shared by the teacher supporting the lesson via Arbor and where needed a call to parents will be made. For an incident deemed as being severe, the incident must be shared, via email, with the year team of the pupil concerned or one of the senior leaders responsible for pastoral care.
